The Ten Commandments

Presented to Moses on Mount Sinai by the hand of God on two stone tablets, the Ten Commandments stand today after more than 3500 years as God's law to the human race. The first three are our obligations to God—the last seven our obligations to our fellow men. They are a pattern for our human relations. All the laws of the Country dealing with human relations are based upon the Ten Commandments.

Since the establishment of the Youth Guidance Commission by the Grand Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, numerous successful projects have been undertaken throughout the country. There has always been the challenge that a single project, designed to be acceptable to all Eagle Aeries in the jurisdiction and one which would promote a practical program of youth Guidance be conceived and sponsored on the national level. After several years of careful study the Minnesota Youth Guidance Committee concluded that there can be no substitute, no more defined, nor better program of youth guidance than the original program presented by God, The Ten Commandments, since echoing down the ages we hear the words: "My son, forget not the law, but let thine heart keep my Commandments, for length of days and long life and peace shall they add to thee."

After consultation over a period of years with the clergy of many denominations, noted artists were employed to produce this illuminated print, incorporating a universally acceptable translation of the Ten Commandments from the Old Testament, ornated in multi-color and including many significant symbols. Included in the art scheme is the American Emblem, the emblem of the Fraternal Order of Eagles; the two tablets of the Ten Commandments; the All Seeing Eye of God, superimposed on the triangle; the Stars of David; the Greek Letters Chi Rho, being the first two letters of Christ. This latter symbol also having the appearance of the intersecting letters PX has been interpreted as an abbreviation of Pax, meaning peace.

This program was first initiated on the state level by the Minnesota State Aerie for the purpose of testing its universal acceptance, and after the presentation of more than 7000 copies, principally by aeries within the state, but also with some active participation by aeries outside of Minnesota, the project was in December 1953 adopted as a national youth guidance project.

Presentations of the Ten Commandments are being made by local aeries or individual members thereof to Juvenile, District, Municipal and other courts, to churches, schools, civil and fraternal organizations and other agencies and individuals serving youth. It is the further aim of this great fraternity that ultimately every Eagle home may be identified by the display therein of the Ten Commandments.

The Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence show concrete evidence that the authors, the founders of this great nation, were inspired by a belief in God and his Commandments.

It is a pleasure therefore to present to you this beautiful illuminated version of the Ten Commandments. May it inspire in all who see it renewed respect for the Law of God, which is our greatest strength against the forces that threaten our way of life. It furnishes a means of reaffirming our faith in the fundamental precepts of democracy and freedom.

If we work upon marble, it will perish;
If we work upon brass, time will efface it,
If we rear temples they will crumble into dust,
But if we work upon immortal souls,

If we imbue them with principles,
With the just fear of the Creator and love of fellow men,
We engrave on those tables something
Which will brighten all eternity.

YOUTH GUIDANCE COMMISSION
FRATERNAL ORDER OF EAGLES

E. J. RUEGEMER,
Chairman, Judge District Court, St. Cloud, Minnesots.

The Ministerial Association of St. Cloud, composed of every Protestant Pastor in this area, has asked me to express our appreciation of the magnificent project of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to distribute, beautifully lithographed, the Law of God—The Ten Commandments. We endorse this project as attesting in no uncertain note that this Fraternal Order recognizes through its Youth Guidance Commission that this Republic was founded on religious faith and the Law of God. The Ministerium commends the benevolent work of this Fraternal Order of Eagles in their solicitude for the welfare of growing youth, in seeking to impress upon this youth as he moves through the schools and churches and the courts of the U.S. that obedience of the Law of God in them moulding and the development of the moral character and the growth of a high citizenship is the first requisite and qualification of our American way of life.

W. F. DICKENS-LEWIS, D. D.
Secy. St. Cloud Ministerial Association

The F.O.E. project of emphasizing the Ten Commandments as central in its youth guidance program is a most commendable one. We are living in a time when we must place first things first—and it is imperative for our youth to understand how fundamental the Ten Commandments are in all phases of our modern life and activity. May your program and project have far and wide influence.

RABBI ALBERT G. MINDA,
Temple Israel, Minneapolis

One can only write words of commendation to the Fraternal Order of Eagles for their worthy project of keeping before the minds of the American people, the Ten Commandments of God. The Divine Law as expressed in the commandments is the basis of all law. Respect and obedience to this Divine Law gives birth to respect for human law, which in turn develops good citizenship in our nation. As a Catholic bishop, I give my blessing to this project and trust that much spiritual and moral good shall come to our people in this nation for this worthy effort.

✠ P. W. BARTHOLOME, D. D.
Bishop of St. Cloud

There is great wisdom in the conclusion of the Minnesota Youth Guidance Commission, i. e., that there can be no substitute and certainly no more defined nor better program of youth guidance than the original program presented by God, the Ten Commandments. In my opinion this is indeed a wonderful project and I shall deem it an honor to add my indorsement. My every good wish is extended to you in this noble undertaking.

FULTON OURSLER,
Author of the Greatest Story Ever Told,
Author of The Greatest Book Ever Written

The Fraternal Order of Eagles is rendering a significant service to our country in its project of encouraging obedience to the will and law of God as declared in the Ten Commandments. We adults can place before our youth no finer example than by indicating our belief that our lives should be guided by the Divine Law.

LUTHER W. YOUNGDAHL,
Judge of the United States District Court, Washington, D. C.

I think you could not have had a greater idea for Youth Guidance than to re-state and re-affirm God's ageless patern for human conduct. Every constitution conceived by man has found the need for amendment, but the Ten Commandments have stood unaltered, not only as a guide for youth, but as a path to be followed by all men of good will—a path which could lead us to Peace on Earth.

CECIL B. De MILLE,
Paramount Pictures Corporation

I would like to see the Ten Commandment scroll posted in every school and library in the country. Its message is sadly needed in the instruction of our children and young people so many of whom have but slight acquaintance, if any, with them, (the commandments). All thoughtful people will thank you and the Order for this contribution to the Youth of America.

ANGELO PATRI,
Educator and Author

The program of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to distribute illuminated prints of the Ten Commandments to our country's youth in order to foster observance of God's Laws is a most worthy one and merits sympathetic and zealous support.

JOHN EDGAR HOOVER,
Director Federal Bureau of Investigation

By placing the Ten Commandments so attractively within the easy reading view of all the children of America, the Fraternal Order of Eagles puts the imperishable first and helps to arm our beloved country against the Godlessness of communism.

re about youth

Sir: I wish I could make all your eaders sit down and read this letter. I wish I could make all the parents of our fair city sit down and think about this letter. Because our city isn't so very fair.

Do you know where your children are or will be going this evening? Do you care?

Did you bother to investigate the movie they went to see? Did you notice how it promoted its nudity, violence and sexual explicitness? Or do you care?

Did you bother to look into the dance they attended? Was it chaperoned? Or was it a mass of smoking, drinking sixteen and seventeen year olds? A recent dance at CHHS had just enough light to discern couples lying on the sidelines, their hands freely roaming over each other's bodies in full view of anyone who wasn't already occupied. Or do you even care?

Did you know that liquor was freely passed out to fifteen, sixteen and seventeen year olds at the party your child was at? Or was the open beer in your own home? Or do you care?

Well, I care. I care because my fourteen year old sister is pregnant. I care because I don't want your kids to mess up their lives like she has done. I care. Do you?

Soviets say leader ill

ROME (AP) — A top Soviet Communist party member and editor has confirmed rumors that Soviet President Konstantin Chernenko is ill, but the journalist insisted in a televised interview that the leader is still in charge.

Chernenko, 73, and in office for less than a year, was last seen in public on Dec. 27 in a televised awards ceremony. During his infrequent public appearances, he seemed to have breathing problems.

Viktor Afanasyev, editor of the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, told an interviewer on Italy's state-run RAI television Wednesday night that he did not know how serious was the illness.

U.S plan attacked

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet commentators attacked President Reagan for using his State of the Union speech to promote his Star Wars defence plan and said the program threatens next month's arms control talks.

Vladimir Alexeev, writing for the Novosti news agency, also criticized Reagan for not disclosing details of the U.S. stand in the Geneva talks due to begin March 12.

He dismissed as unfounded what he said was Reagan's boast, made during his address Wednesday, that strong defence policies in his first term had brought Moscow to the Geneva talks.

Medicine Hat's Police Chief, Norm McLeod, is under investigation by the Alberta Solicitor General's Department for undisclosed reasons.

Calgary Police Chief Ernie Reimer has been named to look into the matter. Feb. 7-1985.

MCLEOD

McLeod said today he could not talk about the investigation.

"I'm in a predicament. I can't say anything to you. I wish I could but I can't."

Police Commission chairman Keith Freeman this morning confirmed McLeod is under investigation. He was tight-lipped about details of the investigation, but he said it was because he had not received "official" notification of the allegations against the chief, who was appointed to the job just last year.

FREEMAN

"An internal investigation into the Medicine Hat police force is underway at the present time. Allegations have been made against Chief McLeod. Chief Reimer of the Calgary city police force has been appointed to investigate and to make a report," Freeman said, reading from a prepared statement.

"The police commission and Chief McLeod are co-operating fully with the investigators. The police commission has not been presented with any written document of any sort that outlines what the charges and allegations are."

Freeman said Ed Witherden, director of the Solicitor General's law enforcement division, had informed him of the investigation late last week.

The matter passed from the Medicine Hat Crown prosecutors' office to the Attorney General's Department in Edmonton and then was turned over to the Solicitor General.

The investigation could be complete at the end of next week, said Freeman.

"That is only a guess," he cautioned.

He would not comment this morning on who made the allegations regarding McLeod.

"It would only be hearsay."

He confirmed, however, both the Attorney General's and the Solicitor General's departments were involved.

When told this morning that The Medicine Hat News knew of the department undertaking an investigation, Witherden said: "Have we now? How did you find that out? How do you know?"

"These sort of questions are matters of local responsibility so anything I might say would be taking away from the responsibilities of the chairman of the police commission."

John Scrimshaw, Attorney General Neil Crawford's executive assistant, said his department will not comment.

Freeman would not comment Wednesday night when he was asked by The Medicine Hat News about the investigation. He admitted this morning that the press conference was prompted by the fact that news of the solicitor general's inquiry had "obviously been leaked."

"I had hoped that we would be able to get the investigation over and (then) let everyone know what had happened," he said.

McLeod has not been at work this week, but Freeman said he was not under any kind of suspension.

Suspend McLeod: officers

Medicine Hat's police officers want their chief removed from duty while an investigation into complaints against him continues, a lawyer for the officers said Thursday.

"The police association . . . has written a letter to the lawyer for the (police) commission requesting the suspension of chief Norm McLeod," Lawrence Gordon said.

He said the letter was delivered Thursday.

McLeod's continued presence at the police station while the Solicitor General's Department completes an investigation of him is "adversely" affecting morale on the police force, said Gordon.

Keith Freeman, police commission chairman, said he will not comment on the association's letter until the entire commission has had an opportunity to consider it.

McLeod could not be reached for comment.

The Solicitor General's Department ordered an investigation of McLeod about a month ago.

Officials at the department and with the police commission have declined to reveal specifics about the allegations.

The 64-member Medicine Hat Police Association filed a related complaint of its own last week.

Gordon said the only response he's received to the complaint is a copy of a letter the police commission sent to the Solicitor General's Department. The letter asked for advice on suspending McLeod and dealing with the police association complaint.

Chief fired

Evans also said a second lawsuit will be filed but refused to give details.

McLeod will also ask the provincial Law Enforcement Appeal Board to reinstate him as police chief.

The decision to fire McLeod was made unanimously by the city's five-man police commission: chairman Keith Freeman, Mayor Ted Grimm, Ald. Graham Kelly, Gary Folkerts and Harry Behman.

Freeman said the commission fired McLeod "in the best interest of the administration of law enforcement in the city of Medicine Hat."

Freeman would not give specifics of why McLeod was dismissed, but Kelly said "there's an indirect relationship" to the accusations that McLeod has had hanging over him since February.

"But there are other reasons," Kelly said, adding, "I'm not going to reveal them."

In late February, the city's 65- member police association filed a complaint alleging that McLeod disclosed an undercover drug investigation and wiretap to his son, Scott.

The association also accused McLeod of transferring an officer out of the drug investigation section before an investigation was completed.

The commission asked McLeod to resign in mid-May, offering $100,000 plus legal fees. According to Kelly, McLeod refused the proposal but made a counter offer of about $250,000 in return for his resignation.

The province's Attorney General's Department had investigated the police association's allegations against their chief but in mid-March decided not to lay criminal charges against McLeod.

In late April, the police commission also dismissed a complaint that McLeod violated police regulations, leaving police officers to challenge the decision in Court of Queen's Bench. The decision was upheld in court.

The police association then took their allegations to the Law Enforcement Appeal Board, which dismissed the case in August.

In his decision, board chairman Justice Sidney Legg said McLeod "has been publicly castigated through the media by allegations which have never been proved."

McLeod had never been given the "opportunity to cross-examine his accusors, to defend himself, nor has he been allowed the rights and protections to which he is entitled," Legg added.

McLeod refused to comment in an interview Tuesday on the allegations.

For the past 11 weeks McLeod has been taking paid holidays on the orders of the police commission.

McLeod was appointed police chief April 1, 1984, and his 18- month probation ended Tuesday. Kelly said the commision waited for the probation to end to avoid having to reinstate McLeod as an inspector.

The city will be "moving quickly" to find a new police chief, Kelly said.

"We are looking at four to six weeks to have a new person on the job," he said.

Until that time, Insp. Larry Brink will continue to act as the senior officer, Kelly said.

Norm McLeod

By Carol Harrington
(Herald Brooks bureau)

Fired Medicine Hat Police Chief Norm McLeod plans to take the city and police commission to court to get his job back and collect damages.

"I haven't given up yet," the 28-year veteran said Tuesday after the police commission announced his firing.

"We are going to sue the commission and the city of Medicine Hat in the Court of Queen's Bench," said Chris Evans of Calgary, McLeod's lawyer.

Evans said McLeod will seek an order setting aside the dismissal, a declaration that he's still the police chief and damages for wrongful dismissal, loss of benefits and defamation of character.

Local Couple Wed In August Ceremony

Memorial Salem United Church was the setting of an attractive wedding the afternoon of August 19 when two local young people, Joyce Darlene Stegin and Kenneth Robert Lentz, pledged their marriage vows. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stegin and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lentz, all of Medicine Hat.

For the occasion two large bouquets of mixed summer flowers, enhanced by bows of yellow ribbon, had been placed on the alter.

Rev. W.A. Wright was the officiating minister.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a floor length gown of white lace and net over taffeta, styled with a sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves. Her bridal halo, set with seed pearls and sequins, featured scallops to match the neckline of her frock. From it her chapel veil of illusion fell in gathered tiers.

Red roses with a cascade of white satin streamers formed her bouquet and as her only jewelry a pair of pearl drop earrings were worn.

PASTEL GOWNS

Summery gowns in pastel shades were chosen by the bridal attendants, Miss Lucille Stegin, the bride's sister who acted as maid of honor, Miss Dianna Lentz, the groom's sister as bridesmaid, and little Misses Patricia Dimmer and Janice Lentz who appeared as flower girls.

Yellow silk was worn by the maid of honor while the bridesmaid's frock was fashioned of light blue silk. Each wore a picture hat of frilled white organza and carried a bouquet of white carnations. White accessories completed their ensembles.

A bouffant frock of mauve nylon with a white floral bandeau forming her headpiece was chosen by the first flower girl while the second was gowned in pink nylon, with pink blossoms forming her headdress. They carried baskets of mixed white flowers.

The groom was attended by Raymond Smith and David Andres while guests twere ushered by Ronald Dimmer and Gordon Lentz.

Wedding music was played on the organ by Mrs. F. Verheege and the soloist, Miss Edna Sulz, sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stegin chose a frock in beige and brown print, complimented by white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Lentz's sheath style frock in brown was topped by a matching duster, her accessories were in beige and yellow roses formed her corsage.

Following the ceremony, at a reception for 157 gusests held in Moose Hall, the toast to the newlyweds was proposed by Rev. Wright.

Two bouquets of mixed blossoms flanked the three tier wedding cake centring the bride's table, as did two tall white candles. Atop the cake was a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Rose Maurer was in charge of the guest book and pouring honors were shared by members of the Women of the Moose.

For leaving on a wedding trip to Banff and Waterton Lakes, the bride changed to a two piece white suit with all accessories in white, with one bright note added in the yellow roses worn en corsage.

Out-of-town guests present for the occasion came from Calgary, Delburne, Carbon, Brooks, Patricia, Iddesleigh and Wetaskiwin.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH ROTH

—Gainsboro photo

Twin baskets of mixed blossoms graced the altar of Memorial Salem United Church in Medicine Hat the afternoon of April 28 to form a colorful background for the ceremony uniting Margaret Grace Lentz and Ralph Roth in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lentz of Dunmore and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roth of Irvine.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Wright.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a princess style gown of heavy white bridal brocade accented with short puffed sleeves modified by elbow length lily point mittens. The softly flaring lines of the skirt ended at floor length in front, to curve into a court train at the back.

Lines of the train were repeated in the arrangement of her veil of illusion tulle with its edging of wide Alencon lace, falling in a deep semi-circle from a crown encrusted with sequins and pearls.

TRADITION FOLLOWED

In addition to the strand of pearls and matching earrings worn as jewelry, the bride's traditional "something borrowed" was a gold brooch belonging to her mother. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink roses.

The senior bridal attendants, Miss Marjorie Lentz and Mrs. Margola Yanke, were dressed alike in floor length gowns of pink lace and net over taffeta. They carried identical bouquets of blue tinted carnations and wore rhinestone tiaras as headpieces.

The two little flower girls, Janice and Barbara Lentz, were attired in floor length frocks of white organza with pink sashes encircling their waists. They wore pink floral bandeaus in their hair and carried colonial nosegays centred by a pink rose.

The groom was attended by Lorne Yanke and David Hausauer, while guests were ushered by Reinhold Krauss and Clarence Roth.

Wedding music was played at the organ by Mrs. Barbara Wenhegge who also accompanied the soloist, Miss Dianna Lentz, as she sang "Walk Hand in Hand".

FLORAL FROCKS

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lentz chose a floral organza frock in brown tones with matching jacket. Her accessories were in tangerine and talisman roses formed her corsage.

Floral organza was also chosen by the bridegroom's mother, her dress and duster ensemble being in pale blue and white. The white was repeated in her accessories and pink accent was provided in her corsage of roses.

Following the ceremony, at a reception held in The Westerner, 260 guests signed the guest book which was circulated by Miss Arlene Krauss.

Bright arrangements of spring flowers decorated the bride's table which was centred by a three tier wedding cake topped by an orchid.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Wright.

For leaving on a honeymoon trip to Havre, Mont., the bride donned a dress and duster ensemble in turquoise shade, accented by accessories in white.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding and reception came from Calgary, Wetaskiwin, Irvine, Thelma and Dunmore.

Now returned from their wedding trip, the bride and groom have taken up residence in the Irvine district.

Eyes were damaged from eclipse

Feb. 26 1979

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least four cases of severe eye damage believed to have been caused by viewing Monday's eclipse of the sun have been reported in different parts of the country.

Dr. T. A. S. Boyd, of the University of Alberta Hospital's eye unit, said Wednesday that a woman who was unable to explain why she watched the eclipse for four continuous minutes has lost her ability to read.

Boyd said the woman, who admitted being aware of the danger of an eclipse, will not have any trouble walking or shopping but will not be able to read the print in books and newspapers.

"There's nothing you can do to correct the damage," he said.

A hospital spokesman said 11 other persons checked into the emergency ward with possible eye injuries but were sent home after examination.

Reports in Washbush, Nfld., say a medical official has confirmed two cases of eye damage in two local teen-agers. In one case, retinas in both eyes were burned and there was possibility of blindness. Only one eye was affected in the other case.

The area experienced an 82 per cent eclipse Monday and skies were clear.

In Timmins, Ont., a 14-year-old girl is suffering from eye damage after looking at the sun for about two minutes, first with one eye covered and then the other.

Gambling revenue missing

City police are investigating the gambling operations of the Medicine Hat Independent Order of Odd Fellows on a request from the provincial attorney-general's department, Staff-Sergeant Larry Brink told The NEWS today.

After an audit by the department, which sparked the investigation, city police inquiries have shown approximately $109,000 in revenue is unaccounted for, Brink said.

The missing revenue is believed to be from sales of Nevada tickets, according to Brink.

"As a result of an attorney-general's department audit we were asked to make inquiries and as a result of our investigation we found a considerable amount of money missing," he said. "It's a result of selling Nevada tickets over the last two years."

"At this time I do not know whether there will be charges laid. It depends on the outcome of further investigation. At this time there has been no one arrested or charged," said Brink.

"I can't even say right now whether I expect anyone to be arrested or charged," he added.

By FINN BRIDGE

"OLD SMELL'Y": It's Finn's painful duty to report that complaints about the sewage lagoon acting-up again have been trickling through. Sunday night, they say, was a bad night in Crescent Heights. And then in the wee hours of Tuesday morning the stench returned to torment those still awake, tossing and turning in the sweltering heat.

Well, it all inspired one resident of East Crescent Heights to compose this "The Crescent Heights Lament." You sing it to the tune of "Old Smokey."

On top of old Smell'y,
Harry Veiner's Lagoon,
Half our people are gagging,
—Half in a swoon.

They tell us they'll fix it,
But they're swinging the lead.
Not unusual for Council —
So we'll all soon be dead.

AIR CADETS VISIT R.C.A.F. AT SUFFIELD BASE

Under the leadership of their commanding officers, F-L M. Raber of the Medicine Hat Air Cadet Squadron and F-L H. J. Peddie of the Brooks Squadron, fifty-two Air Cadets enjoyed an aircraft flight, a weapons display, aeroplane inspection, instructional and general interest films at the RCAF base at Suffield recently.

The Medicine Hat Air Cadets were picked up at the Medicine Hat Airport by a RCAF Dakota and flown to Suffield. The Brooks Air Cadets were picked up by a RCAF bus and taken to Suffield. The program called for the Medicine Hat cadets to fly all morning and the Brooks cadets in the afternoon. While awaiting their turn to fly, the cadets inspected a Mustang fighter, a Mitchell bomber and a Dakota transport. They were shown an armament display of machine guns, cannons, rockets, bombs, bomb sights, cartridges and shells, pistols, rifles and other armament equipment such as gas masks.

From there they went to see a flim on Operation Musk-Ox and Northwest by Air which dealt with RCAF operations in the far north. The cadets brought their lunch and put in a full and interesting day. Unfortunately the weather closed in and the cadets had to give up the afternoon flights. The cadets went home by bus about four o'clock after six hours of unceasing activity.

Mother Shipton's Poem

We have been asked a number of times by some of our readers, to print Mother Shipton's Prophecies, which we do herewith:

Because of the uncanny manner in which the prophecies of Mother Shipton have been coming to pass during recent years, considerable attention has been attracted to this strange creature of four centuries ago. Even those who have in the past scoffed at the weird predictions of this ancient "witch" are now stirred by curiosity to wonder what will next occur in this direction.

Mother Shipton, we are told, was born in Yorkshire, England, in July 1488, and died about 1559. In books of information she is described as a half mythical English prophetess, baptised Uhsula Southiel, who later married Tony Shipton, a builder. According to traditions, she was the child of Agatha Shipton and the Devil.

The following extracts were taken from a scrap book over 40 years old, and owned by a Rochester woman, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle:

A carriage without a horse shall go
Disaster fill the world with woe
In London's foremost hill shall be
Its untree hold a bishop's see
Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye
And the waters wonders do
How strange, and yet, it shall be true
Then upside down the world shall be
And gold found at the root of tree
Through towering hill proud man shall ride
No horse or colt move by his side
Beneath the waters men shall walk
Shall ride, shall sleep and even talk
And in the air men shall be seen
In white and black as well as green.
A great man shall come and go,
For prophecy declares it so.
In water, iron there shall float
As easy as a wooden boat.
Gold shall be found in stream and stone
In land that is as yet unknown
Water and fire shall wonders be
And England shall admit a Jew
The Jew that once was held in scorn
Shall of a Christian then be born.
A house of years shall come to pass
In England, but alas-alas
A war shall follow with the work
Where dwells the Pagan and the Turk
The state shall lack fiercest strife
And seek to take each others life
The north shall then denounce the south
For tax and blood and cruel war
Shall come to every humble door.
Three times shall lovely sunny France
Be led to plan a bloody dance
Before the people shall be free
Three rulers in succession be
Each spring from different destiny,
That when the fiercest fighting done,
England and France shall be as one.
The British, alive, next shall turn
In marriage with the German men.
Men shall walk beneath and o'er stream
Fulfillment shall be a strange dream.
All England's sons that plow the land
Shall oft be seen with book in hand.
The poor shall now most wisdom know
And water winds where corn doth grow;
Great houses stand in far flung vale
All covered over with snow and hail
And now a word in uncouth rhyme
Of what shall be in future time:
For in those far off wondrous days
The women shall adopt a craze
To dress like men, the trousers wear,
And cut off all their locks of hair;
Then ride astride with brazen brow,
As witches do a broom stick now
Then love and marriage shall die and cease.
The women shall fondle cats and dogs
And men shall live much same as hogs
In nineteen hundred and thirty-six
Build houses of light straw and briks
For then shall mighty war be planned,
And fire and sword shall sweep the land.
But those that live the century thru
In fear and trembling this shall do
Flee to the mountains and the dens
To the bogs and forests and wild pens,
For storms shall rage and cannons roar,
When Gabriel stands on sea and shore,
And as he blows his wondrous horn,
The old world shall die and a new be born.

In Memoriams

ZIEGLER and SHEUER — In loving memory of mother, Katherina Ziegler and sister Marjorie Scheuer who passed away February 26, 1970.

We do not need a special day,
to bring you to our mind,
The days we do not think of you both, are very hard to find,
They say that time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proven how much we miss
you both yet.
God gave us strength to forget it and courage to bear
the blow,
But what it meant to lose you both, no one will ever know.
To know we never said goodbye will always bring regret,
But the hearts that loved you
both dearly, are the ones that won't forget.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Christine, Sam and family. 188-1
